Alcoholic Women Result Of Repeal, Says Leader At Prohibition Parley

Dr. Leigh Colvin Tells 150 at the Convention That the Drinking Daughter Adds to Traditional Worries of Parents.

5 BIG PROBLEMS

Prohibition Party is Confronted With Major Problems of Social Significance, Dr. Colvin Says.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York told the prohibition national convention in the keynote address today that repeal had led to the "alcoholizing of vast numbers of women."

He told about 150 delegates at the opening session in the state armory here "formerly it was the wandering boy who made the mother's hair grow gray; now it is the drinking daughter also."

Dr. Colvin, considered the likely presidential nominee of the party, said "the liquor traffic is back, more aggressive, more insolent, more devastating than ever before."

To its former evils it is adding debasement of women and girls and increased degeneration of the race.

"Our young people are being swept into the alcoholic vortex. Even the young people of our churches are falling victims of the ubiquitous and incessant liquor pressure. Formerly it was the wandering boy who made the mother's hair grow gray; now it is the drinking daughter also. The mothers, too, are succumbing to alcohol."

"One reason why the race deterioration from alcohol has not been greater than it has is because half the race, that is, the women, have been substantially free from alcohol. During former centuries women were not allowed to have it except in the wine producing countries and in the prodigious circles of cities."

National Chairman Edward E. Blake, who had expected close to a thousand delegates before the convention opened, said today he expected more delegates before the day was over. The party is entitled to 1,350.

Dr. Colvin charged repeal with educating all classes to drink and bringing back into the open the "evils that prohibition had driven to cover."

"We must not forget the heinous, mobile and unconstitutional methods by which the repealists bludgeoned the 18th Amendment," he said.

"I accused the administration of 'purposeful framing' the indictment which he said was held out to voters that repeal would end the special taxes imposed by the NIRA."

"Like detectives can reconstruct a crime after the event, we can now see through the whole diabolical scheme by which the administration, bent on dooming prohibition, devised a system whereby they could offer financial incentive for large numbers of voters to cast their ballots for repeal," Dr. Colvin said.

He proposed that the prohibition party proceed on the theory that the 18th amendment is still "rightfully a part of the constitution, temporarily in eclipse, but to be reinstated."

Dr. Colvin listed five other "big problems" confronting the party.

1—Recovery from the depression, for which he urged a policy promoting "clear brains, alertness, initiative, ambition, invention, and the will to win."

2—A social security program to take the "happiness of the people into consideration."

3—A law enforcement program which will not "seek the votes of the wets and the underworld."

4—Clean politics and the avoidance of alliances with political machines, liquor, the underworld and "certain big business interests."

5—A sound philosophy of government. "Constitutional, American, progressive but not radical and not succumbing to unsound waves of hysteria which have swept the country from time to time."

Ruth Robinson Released

Washington, May 5 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover said today that Ruth Robinson, the red-haired woman seized by federal agents with Alvin Karpis in New Orleans Friday night, has been released. He said no charges will be placed against her. Fred Hunter, arrested at the same time, is being held to face charges of harboring Karpis and also to face charges in connection with a mail train robbery at Garrettsville, Ohio, in which Karpis is also charged with participating.

Will Share Title

Little Falls, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Mayor John McGuire of Little Falls offered today to share with Mayor Francis F. Bohan of Seneca Falls the title of "New York state's youngest mayor."

Both are 28. Mayor McGuire suggested that because the youngest mayor of a city, while Mayor Bohan was the youngest mayor of a village.

Mrs. Ware Dies

Hamilton, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Schumann Ware, 54, wife of Raymond Ware, died last night in a local hospital. She was a daughter of Dr. Joseph Schumann, former president of Cornell University and former United States envoy to China and Germany. Dr. Schumann is traveling in Europe.

Additional Arrests In Montreal's Swoops Scindale Are Expected

New York, May 5 (AP)—Postal inspectors said today they expected additional arrests shortly in connection with an alleged $3,000,000 swindle on the Montreal Post Graduate Hospital sweepstakes.

Four persons were arrested here last night, including Morris Berny, former prohibition agent whom postal authorities said was the "ringleader."

Berny, together with his brother, Paul, and Chauncey Stone and Arthur Schaffler, appeared in the police lineup today and denied their guilt. The four men and Victor Levin, who was arrested previously, are expected to be taken to Boston where a federal grand jury has indicted 25 persons.

Postal inspectors said there is no such institution as the Montreal Post Graduate Hospital and that names of those announced as winners were taken from tombstones in New England.

Morris Berny also has been indicted in connection with the American Contest Corp., which came under the scrutiny of the federal government as a result of a lottery for the Knights of Columbus.

Securing Rights of Way for the Proposed By-Pass in Highland

Members of the rights of way committee of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors have begun their work of securing rights of way for the proposed Highland village by-pass.

The committee has visited the scene and with the maps forwarded by the State Department have begun to look over the land which would be necessary if the plan is carried out as now indicated by the State Department.

Only maps for the lower end of the construction have been received. Residents of the village have opposed and still oppose the plan as now outlined to run a new alignment from a point near the soldiers monument by means of a viaduct over the business section and then along a new alignment east of the present road.

Following a public meeting held in the village at which various plans were outlined it was decided to postpone the matter of going ahead with the securing of rights of way for a time in order to ascertain whether the state would alter its plans and permit a passage nearer the business section as the residents of the village requested, but apparently the state has not given any indication of a change and the committee on purchase of rights of way has now commenced its work. Asked as to whether anything definite had been done as to securing rights of way by Chairman Van T. Pine said he had not had a definite report from the committee but that the committee had been on the grounds and had begun preliminary negotiations. Maps for the upper section of the road have not yet been received.

Maryland Returns Put Roosevelt Lead at 5-1 Over Col. Breckenridge

Primary Elections Held Today in California and South Dakota; "Maryland Increases Pennsylvania Poll" says Breckenridge.

"AMERICA CHANGING" Warns "Scuttlers of Party Platforms" That "Political Chain Gangs" Won't Save Them.

(By The Associated Press)

Returns from the Maryland presidential primary gave President Roosevelt a margin of approximately 5-1 today over Colonel Henry Breckenridge, foe of the New Deal, and assured the Chief Executive of the state's 16 votes in the Democratic national convention.

As the count of ballots cast in Maryland yesterday was being completed, primary elections were being held today in California and South Dakota.

In the Republican party in the coast state there is a contest between an untrained state of candidates for delegates and a state pledged to Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

On the Democratic side voters had a choice among a state picked by President Roosevelt, Upton Sinclair's group which was formed by E. P. McGroarty, and Representative McGroarty's group. Sinclair and McGroarty have said they would support the President on the second ballot at the Philadelphia Democratic convention.

Sinclair seeks a production-for-use plank in the party platform, while McGroarty's group wants a Townsend pension plank.

In the South Dakota primary, interest centered in the contest between a state pledged to Senator Borah of Idaho, and an untrained state which is claimed by supporters of Governor Landon. The state will send eight delegates to the national convention.

President Roosevelt is unopposed in the Democratic primary both in South Dakota and Alabama.

Indiana also held its primary election today, but no presidential preference was involved. Candidates were being nominated for Congress, along with delegates to Democratic and Republican state conventions. The state conventions select delegates to the national convention.

Conquering Italians Enter Addis Ababa as Bells, Sirens Sound Riotous Joy in Rome

Citizens Summoned to Celebration After War Ministry Receives Information That Ethiopian Capital Had Fallen.

U. S. IS ASSURED Italians Assure Washington That Lives and Property of Foreigners Would Be Protected.

(By The Associated Press)

Rome, May 5.—Sirens and bells sounded in Rome late today, summoning the citizens to celebration after the war ministry received information that Addis Ababa had fallen.

The summons was to the long-expected adduna, or national mass meeting, to symbolize Italy's victory over Ethiopia.

In response to the tocsin, half the population of Italy sprang to military and semi-military formation.

It was the second time since Italy's war with Ethiopia started that it had called on the people to march in military formation to pre-arranged public places and listen to his radioed commands.

The first occasion was October 2, 1935. Speaking to 20,000,000 soldiers, blackshirts, and members of organizations gathered in military formation in the 7,323 cities, towns and villages of the kingdom he shouted a warning that Italians would push into Ethiopia.

A few minutes before the signal was given Fascist headquarters in Rome announced Italians must be ready again to pledge their faith to Mussolini's policies.

Suddenly the ordinary mundane life of every city, town and village was rent by the shrieking of whistles, sirens, church bells.

Drums and bugles in military and blackshirt headquarters shrilled and rolled out the summons to arms.

Rome itself became a medley of crashing iron shutters, slamming windows, rushing feet, and shouted commands, as shops, factories and offices closed their portals.

In a few minutes silence descended. People in the capital and the other great cities were busy donning their uniforms. For a short space of time the streets were deserted. An airplane attack could have caused no more concerted plunge into the quiet of home life.

The first news of the fall of the Ethiopian capital reached Rome through London, to which Sir Sidney Barton, British minister to Addis Ababa, had reported the arrival of the Italian troops.

Rome immediately was thrown into great excitement, heightened later by the call to the adduna.

Citizens rushed to their appointed posts by the thousands.

The Chamber of Deputies adjourned until tomorrow.

When the sirens started sounding, the whole private telephone system of Rome was turned off.

Offices were closed and clerks and managers as well crowded into buses. A stream of humanity began flowing toward the Piazza Venezia.

Tens of thousands of flags appeared as if by magic on house and store fronts.

First to move out to pre-coordinated posts was the military. At every airfield pilots and mechanics hastily tuned up their planes. Along the frontiers customs guards moved out at a run to double their patrols. Anti-aircraft militia in every city took up their positions.

Federal carabinieri and metropolitan police dotted to places of special assignment. In Rome these police formed triple ranks around the embassies, legations and consulates of nations which have most vigorous claims on the sanctions league against Italy.

All regular soldiers dashed to their barracks, there to be drawn up in marching equipment and to await the Duce's orders. Steam was raised on every naval unit. Officers and men assembled to be ready for sailing orders.

The first symphony of siren blast and bell tolling lasted 20 minutes. By that time most Romans were at home or had hastily donned black shirts to their offices and were on the way to their headquarters. Sunday calm descended on the city.

Again the sirens began to wail, the church bells to ring. This time crashing band music, the roll of drums, the "drum" of women mixed into the swelling roar of sound.

Blackshirt units moved to their posts. In Rome about 100,000 of them were keyed to the breaking point with delight that they had been summoned to the great Piazza Venezia, there to see as well as hear the Duce.

The British minister to Ethiopia reported that a large force of conquering Italian warriors entered Addis Ababa today to relieve thousands of foreigners besieged for four days in various legations.

This word was wireless to London by Sir Sidney Barton, the British minister, shortly after the sorely pressed American legation had been evacuated.

The American envoy with his aides, after four days of conspicuous bravery under the almost constant fire of rioting Ethiopians, evacuated the United States legation in Addis Ababa today, taking refuge in the British embassy.

Shortly afterward a British patrol went into action with machine guns to repel an attack on the Belgian legation by rampaging rioters.

Cornelius Van H. Enkert, the American minister, with other whites in Addis Ababa, has been standing off wild tribesmen-bandits, hoping advancing Fascist legions soon would bring relief.

Incoming French troops from French Somaliland were blocked temporarily by destruction of part of Ethiopia's lone railway 30 miles from Addis Ababa.

The Asakari advance forces of Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio, however, were reported reliably to be in the outskirts of the sacked, burned and officially abandoned Ethiopian capital, with the heavier column of white troops seeking to overcome natural hazards of the primitive roadway from the north.

From Djibouti, the fleeing Emperor Haile Selassie was taken in a British cruiser toward Haifa, Palestine, with responsible reports indicating he had salvaged all the crown jewels, much gold bullion and silver currency, and even had taken along six of his motor cars.

The leaders of the southern Ethiopian forces, Ras Nasibu and his Turkish adviser and staff officers, Wolih Pasha, fled also, crossing into British Somaliland, whence they were expected to take refuge in Berbera, British port on the Gulf of Aden.

In Rome confident Fascists believed they would be called in short time for another gigantic "adduna", or national mobilization such as that which drew 20,000,000 on the eve of the Ethiopian campaign last October.

Dispatches to Rome from Marshal Badoglio indicated the main column of troops was only 6.25 miles (10 kilometers) from Addis Ababa, and the adduna was expected to follow occupation quickly.

Premier Mussolini's triumphant declaration of final and complete victory might even be pronounced before the Italian's important meeting of the Italian Chamber of Deputies, Roman sources indicated.

London sources, reporting the British government frankly humiliated by the unexpectedly easy conquest of Ethiopia, reflected demands of laborites that punishment of Italy through sanctions should be continued and increased.

Advance Guard Marches

Rome, May 5.—The advance guard of the northern Italian army marched to Addis Ababa under an imposing aerial escort. Marshal Pietro Badoglio reported today, his communique indicating formal occupation of the Ethiopian capital was imminent.

The report from the commander-in-chief said his front ranks were only 24 miles from the capital last night.

Similarly, Gen. Rodolfo Graziani's column, which had already advanced toward Haifa.

It is likely that he will be expected to take the city of Addis Ababa and the local land and claim agent of the railroad.

Mr. Cook will also call a meeting of interested property owners to be held Thursday evening when the entire matter will be laid before them.

Josephine Antoine Delighted a Thousand At St. James Church

A debt of gratitude is owing the sponsors for their successful efforts in bringing to the music lovers of Kingston Josephine Antoine, who in the intimacy of the auditorium of St. James M. E. Church was far more than even the leading coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, a beautiful woman whose beautiful soul could find expression through the medium of a very, very beautiful voice made perfect through tireless study of that which she most loves, music. Lovely as she seemed when she sang in Kingston and at Saugerties two years ago, it was as though the rose had unfolded its petals to hear, and see her last evening as she sang for fully a thousand and breathless and overjoyed people.

Miss Antoine had as her accompanist, Edward Harris, as perfect an accompanist for Miss Antoine as one could imagine, and yet a soloist to delight the most critical.

Those who had seen the program previous to the concert almost wished that there were not quite so many arias and florid songs, but that was because they had not heard Josephine Antoine sing them. Her program was as perfect as the songs she sang, and so was every encore number, (for she was most generous in responding to the enthusiasm of her audience) which added to the entire satisfaction of the evening's music. Hearing and seeing Josephine Antoine sing, recalled an unusual definition of "A Work of Art," as being a production, whether of voice, or pen or brush or instrument that is perfectly satisfying. In her case one would like to add, "and completely refreshing."

As her glorious voice matures it grows in richness and beauty, and that throbbing vibrancy that seems to set the very atmosphere into harmonious vibration. Such voices are rare in any generation.

One never thought of the embellishments of the more florid music as such or as vehicles of virtuosity for the artist. They were music, all music the fullest medium for an exultant, overflowing voice of rarest beauty. And with all the beauty of her singing one wondered and wondered that one so young could have achieved such art.

Her first song, "Lungi dal carobene" by Sarti-Huhn, held Josephine Antoine's audience spellbound by the glowing beauty of her voice and art, and the simple, genuine gracefulness of her personality. Dignity was added to "Lusinghe più care," from "Allesandro," by Handel and one thought of words of that dean of musical critics, Mr. Henderson—"A song should be flowing like a river." All of Miss Antoine's songs were.

A most unusual number was "Theme and Variations" by Proch, for one thinks usually of "Variations," as belonging to the world of instrumental music. Yet one should have known that this singer could warble and trill and scatter scintillating diamonds of staccato notes about a theme which she sang into one's very consciousness. One never even thought of the technique, only of the loveliness of the singing and the limpid beauty of even her highest tones.

As an encore she sang the well-known and loved "Caro Nome" from Verdi's Rigoletto. And Master Carroll presented Miss Antoine with an armful of pink roses which were accepted with a look of sincere gratitude to the young messenger and the audience.

Before Mr. Harris came to play as a soloist—and it was difficult to tell whether he was the more complete artist as accompanist or soloist—it was pleasing to think that he would play music by Chopin for his solo work.

His beautifully pearl-like and caressing tones made one think of De Pachenmann the artist, for they were like pearls, as it has been said Chopin's music should be. He played the Nocturne in F sharp major and Waltz in E Minor, both dear to musician and music lover. His encore number was "The Galloping Music Box," a gay and brilliant composition of his own.

In her ideal interpretation of "Serenade" by Gounod, the velvet richness of the middle register of the singer's voice enthralled one. Entirely in contrast was "Les Filles de Cadix," by Delibes and thrilling indeed.

As an encore to Le Rossignol et la Rose from "Parysatis," by Saint-Saëns, Miss Antoine sang as perfectly "Little Damsel."

In all of these songs the wonder had grown and grown over the perfect beauty and art of the young singer, but in the last group there was a something that went deeper and let her audience catch a vision of a beautiful soul. "Sylvan," by Ronald, was an exquisite little pastoral song by one who loves the beauties and charm of nature.

But the most perfect song of the entire evening, that was followed by an awed hush like a deep and silent "Amen," was "Birds" by Fager, the story of the little Christchild. Its prayer came from a soul that knew "beauty, truth and goodness," and was striving for them all.

One felt the quiver of "The Windflowers," by Josten, in the trills and brilliantly delicate notes that swayed to the nodding of the flowers. So warm and lovely was "Midsummer" by Worth that applause would not cease until Josephine Antoine came back with utmost graciousness and sang so sweetly "To a Messenger," by La Farge.

The last number on the program which came all too soon, was "Una voce poco fa," from "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," by Rossini and it was a glorious song that thrilled through one. Returning in response to the continuing applause, Miss Antoine said she would sing another aria for her audience, the Shadow Song from Leonore by Mersebeer, which charmed with the persistence, delicacy and beauty of the artist's thrilling voice as the shadow and reality followed each other with musical recurrence.

The applause grew and grew again and brought back the lovely singer to sing a song, "Danny Boy," that was followed by tears and silence and then a burst of applause.

Josephine Antoine's last song, so simple and so loved, will last in the hearts of her audience as long as any number she sang, for it was "Long, Long Ago."

At the close of the concert, Miss Antoine very graciously and with sincere friendliness met many of her admirers and several of the young people left with thrills in their hearts and the autograph of Josephine Antoine on their programs or in autograph books. She also graciously promised to add an autographed copy of some of her songs or the Lillian Miller Hemstreet Musical Library—Clara Norton Reed.

WINDSOR LINKS TEXTENDED BY KING EDWARD'S ORDER

Windsor, England, (P).—The nine-hole golf course at Windsor Castle is being extended to 18 holes and the hazards are being made more difficult as part of the alterations ordered by King Edward.

He has intimated that late in the year, when court mourning is ended, he will use the castle for entertaining.

King George and Queen Mary seldom stayed at Windsor, preferring their Norfolk home, Sandringham House, when not at Buckingham Palace.

Police-Kiwanis Dinner Here May 14

Elaborate preparations, including an address by the Hon. Grover A. Whelan, former police commissioner of New York city and at present mentioned as the probable next mayor of the metropolis, have been made by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association for the joint dinner with the Kiwanis Club, to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel at noon on May 14. The dinner is an annual affair designed to bring a closer understanding between police officer and business man.

The Kiwanians and police officers are expected to make up about one half the audience, which may reach 200 persons, according to Police Officer Peter Keresman, who promised that in addition to the noted speaker there would be exceptional entertainment for the occasion.

President Roger Loughran of Kiwanis has issued invitations to members of the Rotary Club, Police Commissioners and Mayor Heiselman, and possibly the list may grow as the time of the meeting nears.

The Hon. Mr. Whelan has gained an international reputation in civic and governmental affairs, besides being one of the outstanding executives of the country's largest city. Besides being police commissioner, Mr. Whelan has served as chief of the reception committee in New York city, charged with the welcoming of notables. He has visited Kingston several times in the past for brief stays. While police commissioner he was stopped off here during the administration of former Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, on his way to the police camp back of Catskill, and a number of Kingston officials were invited and accompanied him on that journey.

MILTON

Milton, May 4.—Work on the new store and meat market owned by Jesse Edwards of Marlborough is completed. The brick building will house the new meat market of Mr. Edwards downstairs and the apartment on the second floor will be used by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. The Milton meat market of Mr. Edwards was discontinued last Saturday and the utensils used will be moved back to Marlborough. The many Milton customers are very sorry that this market is leaving Milton village, as it was one of the best in the village.

At a meeting of the Music Study Club held at the home of Mrs. C. R. Taber of Milton on Tuesday plans were completed for the festival to be held in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church of Highland, Tuesday evening, May 25. The program will include organ numbers, vocal and violin solos and readings. The next meeting of the Music Study Club will be held Tuesday, April 12, in Milton. Mrs. W. Westervelt Clarke and Mrs. Howard Barton, both of Milton, will be the hostesses in the Sunday School room of the Milton Methodist Church. The program will be arranged by Mrs. Charles R. Taber of Milton. Music and its emotional reactions will be studied.

The Methodist Epworth League plans to hold a food sale Saturday, May 9, in the Community House on Main street.

Members of the Kilt Club motored to New York, Wednesday and saw Katherine Corbell in the play, "St. Joan."

The board of education of the Central School District of the town of Marlborough has decided not to rent extra buildings next fall for grade students in order to provide for the Milton High School children who now attend the Highland High School. Instead half day sessions will be arranged for many of the grades so that each room can be used by two classes. This system is awkward but it will have to be followed until the new building is ready next spring and it will eliminate extra janitor service, insurance, lights and many other expenses. Extra space may have to be found, however, for the agriculture classes and for home economics if this course is begun.

L. D. Martine of Milton is filling in the swampy ground on the property, the recently purchased near Hetch's filling station between Milton and Highland. He plans to erect filling stations and may make an artificial lake for summer boarders. It is said that he plans to erect 50 cottages for tourists.

Captain Kenneth Herdford of West Point was the guest speaker on Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Lions Club at Blossom Inn. A short business session was held preceding the address by Captain Herdford. The speaker gave a most interesting description of the Hudson valley, taking in the country above West Point. He spoke of Fort Montgomery, Fort Clinton and West Point and told what part they played in the history of our state. Captain Herdford, who is on a commission of the government to restore the fort on Constitution Island to its former state, told of his work there. William Donaldson of Milton rendered two tenor solos before the talk by Captain Herdford and one following. Group singing was enjoyed under the leadership of Thomas Grav, song leader, who was a guest at the meeting.

The Ladies' Naadecraft and Women's Missionary Societies of the Milton Presbyterian Church, will meet at the home of Mrs. Grace Hewitt Wednesday afternoon, May 6, for their regular monthly meeting.

The board of education of the Central School District of the town of Marlborough held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. Teachers' contracts for next year were signed, an office clerk for the principal was selected, the date for the district's annual meeting was chosen and other matters were discussed. The treasurer was ordered to pay $50 to James A. Conklin of Ramapo, N. J., for his survey and topographical map of the Milton school site. This fee the board felt was an extraordinarily reasonable one, especially as the work was done promptly and with accuracy and dispatch. Mr. Conklin is a former Milton man. Edgar M. Clark, the board's president, reported the results of interviews with state education department officials at the time of a recent trip to Albany.

Miss Betty Taber spent several days in Poughkeepsie recently at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Taber.

Miss Kate Woolsey, who has been spending the winter in Brooklyn, has returned home.

Eli Perkins of Milton is recovering from a heart attack with which he was taken ill last week. Dr. Ferguson is the attending physician. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alsdorf have been visiting Mrs. George Fisher in New Paltz.

State Advises No New High School
For Highland, Suggests New Unit

Highland, May 3.—At a meeting Friday evening of the trustees of the central school system, town of Lloyd, a communication from Dr. J. H. Hixson, of the state education department, Albany, was read. Dr. Hixson cautioned the Highland board of education against the present construction of a junior senior high school building and recommended a new unit to meet immediate demands for more school space.

He quoted the inspection survey made by George D. Coons, consulting architect.

It was reported at the meeting that on the advice of the state department of education, an option had been secured on a parcel of land adjoining the present school grounds on the north, from the owner, Hubert Elting, also a map of the land needed. The price was $3,000.

The treasurer reported the second payment of state aid amounting to $29,901.05 had been received and that there was in the treasury $36,493.42.

A reply to questions regarding the price of coal from both the Johnston Coal Company and J. R. Mellus gave the prices that would prevail for the month of May. The amount required for the year is usually 200 tons. No orders were placed at this time.

C. Imbrie Richards reported the one-cost of paint job for the interior of the Wilcox school had been done during the spring recess and P. T. Schantz said the furniture rescued from the burning of the Oakes school had been brought to the village and the janitor of the two rooms used for Oakes pupils in the former Highland Inn was cleaning it.

A letter and offer from a typewriter concern to take the nine typewriters which had been in use four years and replace them with nine new ones at a cost of $225. This was to include servicing them for three years. One typewriter was broken and could not be included in the nine. No action was taken on the matter. Principal Campbell explained in answer to a question concerning the giving up of shorthand that it was not of the practical value that typing was in local use or for students who continue their studies at higher institutions, which often require papers typed. Harry Thompson, the second janitor, asked for a month's leave from his duties in the school for needed work on his home. This was granted and he was replaced by Ralph Lyons.

his visit to your district on March 26, for the purpose of inspecting the two-room school building in the Oakes school district which was destroyed recently by fire. Mr. Coons reports that the portion of the building which was left standing is not capable of being reconstructed and restored for use as a school building. Furthermore, the site is not large enough nor of such character as to warrant our approval for use for the construction of a new building. In fact, it appears that there is not in this immediate section of the district any property available for school purposes which is of such acreage and of such character as to meet our requirements for a school site for a building having two or more classrooms.

Inasmuch as it appears that satisfactory transportation can be arranged economically to provide for all of the children residing in the Oakes district, I am recommending that you discontinue the school which has heretofore been operated in this district and that you take care of the children by transporting them to the central building where you can make available to them the graded school facilities which are available to all the children in attendance at the central school. If special care is taken to provide superior transportation for this section of the central school district, I am pleased to believe that the parents of the children will prefer such a plan, after trial, to the system heretofore in use where their children were placed in a substandard building on a site that provided almost no free play area. You will note that I have suggested that you will do well to provide superior transportation facilities for a section. In making this suggestion, I am not unmindful of the other sections of the district but such suggestion can be deferred under the present circumstances because it will be much cheaper to take care of these children by providing superior transportation facilities rather than to construct a new two-teacher building in this district and operate therein a two-teacher school. Furthermore, the educational returns to the children through this more economical plan will be far greater. It would seem reasonable, therefore, to give to this section some additional consideration and superior conveniences to the end that the parents of the children may the more willingly accept the change in plan. Once they have had an opportunity to see how the new plan works under favorable conditions, I am sure that thereafter such plan will have their active and willing support.

Very truly yours,

J. H. HIXSON.

Father Roth Asks Cordial Greeting for All Charity Workers

A careful and sympathetic hearing for the members of the cardinal's committee of the laity who are canvassing the parishes in the current annual appeal for funds for the Catholic Charities of the New York Archdiocese, is strongly urged by the Rev. Benjamin Roth of St. Mary's Church, in a statement to The Freeman today.

The interests of all individuals and of the community as a whole, he declared, are so closely wrapped up in the widespread activities of the organized Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese that everyone approached should feel called upon both as churchman and citizen to respond as generously as his means will permit.

"Men and women of the Catholic laity have always given unstintingly of their means, their time and their labor," Father Roth said. "This year the need for generosity is much greater than ever before to meet deficits which our institutions and agencies have had to let grow during recent years in order to care for repairs, replacements and additional facilities."

"Our 23 Catholic hospitals which gave 350,000 days of free care last year accumulated a deficit of $292,000."

"Through the Family Division, in special services and material aid—keeping families and children in their homes—more than 50 per cent of all expenditures were devoted."

"Through 74 child caring agencies, Catholic Charities supervised the care and guidance of nearly 34,000 children."

"The difficulty of obtaining employment for dependent children in institutions and boarding homes has resulted in a greatly increased burden since such children have to be kept two or three years beyond the time when normally they would be out earning a living. Positions for 725 boys and girls were obtained."

"Catholic Charities also maintains agencies dealing with social and recreational action such as the Catholic Youth Association, summer camps, settlements, residences for business girls, boy and girl scout troops, clubs, etc."

"Immediate and increasing operating costs in all these institutions had to be taken care of first during the past years. Necessarily this was at a sacrifice of funds for replacement, new equipment, expansion of plant and structure. This dislocation must be corrected."

"Regardless of federal, state and municipal relief in public welfare activities, there will always be a need for private charitable work and this need, in large part, can best be met by groups with a definite spiritual message and appeal."

"New York Catholic Charities is a model for private charities through this country; it is a permanent and continuing contribution to the public welfare; its concerns run the gamut of life from the cradle to the grave, in sickness and in health. In more instances than is generally known, its beneficent influence is available to needy and suffering regardless of race or creed."

"It merits the support of all good citizens as well as the faithful laity of the church."

COVER UNSIGHTLY SPOTS WITH MORNING GLORIES

Few flowers grow as luxuriantly as morning glories. They are prodigious bloomers, and will climb or trail as you wish, and to an extent that is amazing.

For quick growth and a great show of color, these old-fashioned favorites are hard to beat. Their dark and light blue, pink, rose and white colorings, produced in such abundance, will make a sheet of color on a fine summer morning that is as cheerful as the first peep of the crocus in a February thaw.

Plant them for a quick cover for an unsightly fence, or to climb over a garage placed too much in the landscape. On a back porch, they will climb up wires or strings to the roof, and give a colorful screen from the sun that is both pleasing and cooling on hot summer days.

They need no attention. Just scatter the seed where they are to grow, and provide something for them to climb on. Many gardeners plant a few vines in the window box, and let them scrawl over a side of the house.

Many of the hardy annuals should go into the ground as soon as it is workable. Zinnias, petunias, salvia and marigolds are a few for early seeding.

If you are cramped for space, sow parsley seed with the early radishes. The latter will mature and be used up before the parsley is ready.

What's the grand champion of all breakfasts? A bowl of cool, crisp Kellogg's Corn Flakes—plenty of milk or cream—and red, sun-ripened, luscious strawberries! Enjoy this treat often. And be sure the Corn Flakes are Kellogg's—the original—always the best.

Nothing takes the place of Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Hostess gowns or negligees seem to look their best in shiny, dramatic chiffon, which lends itself beautifully to the floaty, trailing silhouette featured extensively in new styles. Colors, too, play a big part in clothes for the leisure hours, going in for unusual tones such as hyacinth, fuchsia, peacock blue, terra cotta, highlight blue and Sutter's gold. In some cases, two or more of these rich colors are combined in the one garment, for added flipp. The very beautiful hostess gown sketched above, is done in hyacinth colored double chiffon. Home Institute WHAT YOUR DREAMS MEAN

What a silly dream! Or is it so silly, when you come to think about it?

"Imagine, I was having a row in a grocery store," laughs Vivian. "Sugar was 75 cents a pound, and I said I'd go elsewhere if the prices remained so high. And of all silly things, the grocer was Ted, my husband's best friend!"

If Vivian knew a bit about the psychology of dreams, she'd take heed, instead of laughing at the dream. It is a warning, straight from her unconscious mind, where lie the thoughts we prefer to ignore.

Ted, although he is her husband's best friend, has become entirely too attentive to her lately. If she accepts those attentions, she will pay far too high a price for them—the wreck of her marriage. Dreams often tell their story in parables, or in poetic and figurative style. It is like a cipher or code, to be understood only with the aid of a key. Modern psychoanalysis gives us that key, revealing the deep significance of dreams. They show up our wishes, loves and hates, delusions or grandeur, longings to escape from reality.

The more we know how our mind is really working in its depths, the better we may guide our actions. Our 40-page illustrated booklet, INTERPRETING YOUR DREAMS, states clearly and briefly the approach to analysis of dreams, symbolism of dreams, dreams in history, typical dreams. Explains what has puzzled you.

Send 15c for our booklet, INTERPRETING YOUR DREAMS, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—William Anthony McGuire was with Florence Ziegfeld, writing his shows, for 14 years but he does not appear in the film, "The Great Ziegfeld."

McGuire, who conceived the idea of a screen biography of the late girl-glorifier, did not consider himself dramatically essential to the screen story. A few of the old Ziegfeld stars are not mentioned in the film, for the same reason, or for the better one that they would not consent to be represented.

McGuire, a red-faced Irishman with a wealth of stories about Ziegfeld, had no idea how to treat his subject when he first broached it to Carl Laemmle, Jr., who was enthusiastic. He had ideas, but no definite scheme, when he first spoke of it to William Powell, its star.

An Immediate "Deal"

That was while both were in the steam baths at Lake Arrowhead. McGuire visualized Powell in the role, not because of physical resemblance, but because of his air of culture, his Ziegfeldian assurance and manner. Powell needed to be told only that he would not be expected to "make up" to look like Ziegfeld. It was a deal, right then, but it got on paper months later.

McGuire decided early that his picture would not be merely a story of the "Follies." He saw those extravaganzas of the showman's later years merely as a climax to his earlier efforts. He determined that Ziegfeld the man was more important than the shows he happened to produce, just as Rothchild the man was more important, dramatically, than the banks he happened to control. He says he adapted his approach to the story from the silent film master, D. W. Griffith.

The Griffith Influence

"I remembered 'The Birth of a Nation,'" he says. "Griffith used about 300 feet of film to show the hordes of clansmen riding. But he used 1,000 feet to show Henry B. Walthall walking alone down a street."

McGuire started writing "Ziegfeld" for Universal. That studio decided it would cost too much to make, add its rights and McGuire's nearly completed script to Metro for more than $200,000. The author stayed with the job, and produced that rarity—a one-writer script.

CHINESE BEAUTY STANDARD UPSET BY HONAN DECKERS

Nanking (AP)—Admirers of old fashioned feminine beauty in the interior province of Honan must change their ideas on what is winsome and attractive, for the authorities have started a campaign against "lily feet" and long hair.

The cruel practice of binding little girls' feet so that they would resemble the lotus lily in bud has been illegal for years, but in the interior girls still are deformed to meet traditional standards of grace.

Shingled hair for little girls and shoulder length bobs for young ladies is another order of the new day in a land where long braids or coiled tresses once were marks of gentility.

Flower Garden Needs Care Now

Ithaca, N. Y., May 5.—A good top dressing of well rotted manure or other organic matter is recommended for soil in the flower garden at this time of year, says R. C. Allen of the New York state college of agriculture. Peat moss or leaf mold may be substituted for manure.

He recommends that these materials be applied to the soil at the rate of about three or four bushels every 100 square feet.

"It may be applied on perennial beds both now and a little later, and when the plants are up it may be worked lightly into the soil around them. On annual beds, spread the fertilizer in deeply. The use of manure at this time for annuals is very important."

"If manure is available as a top dressing, usually no other fertilizers are needed in the garden until the plants have started to grow well. Perennials as a group are somewhat heavy feeders and need considerable plant nourishment to develop, because they remain in one position for several years and deplete the food supply available to the roots."

"To renew this supply, fertilization with a complete commercial fertilizer is recommended. The type that seems to be best suited to the flower garden is the 5-10-5 grade, which means that it is five per cent nitrogen, ten per cent phosphorus, and five per cent potash. A commercial fertilizer of this grade should be applied at the rate of three pounds to every 100 square feet."

"Spread the fertilizer evenly all over the surface of the soil, and keep it about four inches away from the plant. It is not good practice simply to sprinkle fertilizer in a ring around each plant, because the feeding roots penetrate all parts of the soil and when it is spread evenly over the surface it is more likely to reach a large number of roots."

"No danger will result from commercial fertilizers if they are applied at the proper rate and in the correct manner. Persons may easily estimate, for instance, 100 square feet, which means a plot 10 feet long and 10 feet wide, or 25 feet long and four feet wide. Always weigh or measure the fertilizers accurately. After the fertilizer has been applied it is usually advisable to rake it into the soil lightly."

ELATED BY LOVE, SUITOR DRIVES CAR INTO CREEK

Joliet, Ill. (AP)—Charles Singer, 20, of Chicago, asked Louise Blossom of Joliet to marry him. She said "yes." Charles, starting home, drove right through a dead end street into Spring creek.

Officers found Charles wading out. His car was nearly submerged.

"When I left her I was 'driving on air'—I felt that happy," Charles explained, wringing out his coat. "I didn't know I was on a dead end street until it was too late."

REMEMBERING

Aunt Clemmie

GREAT-AUNT CLEMMIE was brought up to the Spartan life. She enjoyed (she always said) getting up at five on a Saturday morning, hanging her market basket over her arm, and going downtown to do the marketing for the week-end. She said, "If you get there first—you'll get the best!"

Aunt Clemmie is a fine reminder of her time. Nowadays one needn't rise with the birds to be sure of a full market basket. It's so much simpler and more efficient to spend a few minutes with the advertisements. Marshallled before you, in your newspaper, is all the news that is necessary for your good living. There, in the advertisements, are facts—sound, solid facts—about prices and quality. Advertised, trade-marked merchandise must be honest merchandise. Or it wouldn't be advertised.

Pretty City Girl (as she spies several calves running across the pasture)—Oh, what pretty cowlets.
Young Farmer (apologizingly)—Pardon me, ma'am, them ain't cowlets; them is bullets.

As a result of the recent depression, a Kingston man says that the famous saying ought to be changed to read like this:
"The need of money has caused more unpleasantness than the love of it."

Doctor—Don't forget that you can't eat too much fruit for your health.
Patient—But, er—Adam did.

Our neighbor says things must be getting better; some folks are taking their noses from grindstones and turning them up again.

Woman Customer—Do you return the money when 22 article isn't satisfactory?
Merchant—That depends on the article.

Woman Customer—That is a book.
Merchant—What was wrong with it?
Woman Customer—I didn't like the way it ended.

Now they say women have better eyes than men. Anyway, a man never can tell when a nose needs powdering.

If your wife entertained, would you run a slide on the screen at the motion picture show?

If you were to enlarge your store, would you tell the folks in a hotel register?

If you were to have a wedding at your home, would you tack the news on a telephone pole?

If a new baby was born in your home, would you tell your friends the glad news on a baseball score card?

Then why the heck don't you put your advertising in the newspaper?

First Wrestler—So you've quit smoking because of your doctor's orders?
Second Wrestler—Yes, he says the cigarettes on the sidewalks all have germs on them.

POLICE COME TO RESCUE AS HUBBY FORGETS "TUX"

Middletown, O. (P.)—Bennett Chapple, Sr., American Rolling Mills Co. executive, was mystified and a little plucked when a Richmond, Ind., police squad stopped his auto and took him to headquarters while he was on the way to deliver a speech in Indianapolis.

What was wrong? What had he done? The officers did not know. They were merely obeying orders.

The desk sergeant cleared up the mystery—Mrs. Chapple had telephoned from Akron, O., asking that her husband be held until she brought him something he had forgotten—his tuxedo.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

By Frank H. Beck.

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

CHARLES E. COUGHLIN

(By The Associated Press)
Not to be outdone by the Republicans and the Democrats, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has called a convention of his National Union for Social Justice.

It will meet at Cleveland August 13 to 16. By August Father Coughlin will have had time to evaluate public reaction to candidates and platforms announced by the major parties.

Timing of his convention seems to indicate he will reserve formulation of his campaign version of "down with the money changers" for the home stretch.

Just where the Coughlin lightning will strike or how powerful it will be is not known, but his weekly radio addresses make him a force to conjure with.

He has said he will not favor a third party. But he urges his followers to "destroy the present leadership and current philosophy which dominates both major parties." His followers will be told to back all candidates who "will work to force Congress to coin and regulate all the money in the nation."

Shokan, May 4—Lacey Sampson of New York called on friends here over the week-end. Mr. Sampson is spending a few days at his country home near Glenford.

Mrs. Mary B. Keogan of Spillway attended services in the Olive and Hurley meeting house Sunday. Mrs. Keogan, for many years a resident of this part of Olive, is perhaps the oldest retired school teacher in Ulster county. She is nearly 90 years of age and is still active mentally and physically.

Local events for the current week include the May meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society Wednesday afternoon and the annual school meetings of districts No. 3 and 4.

Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crutcher and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crutcher were glad to see the two young couples and their children here for the week-end. The Crutcher families motored back to Ridgefield Park, N. J., Sunday afternoon.

The tent caterpillars have made their appearance in large numbers and already have begun eating the young foliage on apple and cherry trees. There appears to be fully as many nests as during last year's destructive visitations of the pests and there are literally millions of the young worms, now less than half an inch long. Cases are known last spring where crab apple trees loaded with blossoms failed to bear any fruit because of the early damage done by caterpillars.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hazzerty, members of the city's colony at the aerator park, were callers in the village center Sunday. The Hazzertys, before locating at Brown Station, were residents of Kingston and still earlier made their home in Shokan.

Local people were interested in the Freeman account of the 54th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Churchill at New Paltz on Sunday, April 26. The Churchills for many years resided at Bolerille where Mr. Churchill was postmaster and storekeeper. They attended the Reformed Church here and had many friends in the old village of Shokan.

Jacob V. Mordue, one time resident and supervisor of Olive, was numbered among the Kingston business men visiting the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Miss Bertha Green is again well enough to walk to the post office, much to the pleasure of her numerous friends in the village.

Eighty years ago the week-end four-horse stage coach on the Dutch Kingston line through the famous Shokan valley at 10 o'clock in the morning. Nine horses were used at Cornelius C. Wines' hotel, the "Joke" Farm, two miles west of Shokan. The turnpike was then How's Business?

(This is the fifth of a series of six articles on the progress of economic recovery.)

By FREDERICK R. GARDNER.
(Associated Press Business Writer.)

Washington (P.)—Federal spending has been woven deeply into the texture of business.

Plans for cash payment of the bonus to war veterans next summer have emphasized Uncle Sam's dollar sign in the trade outlook.

Indications point to postwar outlay of federal funds as the bonus money joins works relief and farm payments.

Counting $1,700,000,000 due veterans in bonus bonds, treasury disbursements over the next six months may top $5,000,000,000. Continuation of the recent rate of works relief spending and completion of AAA contracts for crop control could make it possible.

Analysis Disagree.
How potent impending federal expenditures would be in accelerating recovery is a topic of conjecture among trade analysts. The question is complicated by uncertainty as to how much bonus money would be spent immediately for goods. A substantial portion of it, officials assume, may go for debt repayment, aside from bonds retained for investment.

Nevertheless the bonus money, coupled with other spending, figures importantly in business calculations.

Controversy has camped on the manifold trails of federal dollars, reaching widely into trade and industry.

Income Estimates.
What part government expenditures, running at the rate of more than $7,000,000,000 a year, have played in promoting recovery since 1933 divides opinion among economists. In the meanwhile, commerce department annual estimates of national income paid out from all sources have ranged from about $42,000,000,000 to about $54,000,000,000 for 1935.

paved with plank, in 1851, for a part of its distance, thus giving origin to the familiar "Plank Road" by which the few miles below West Hurley still is known. Wear and tear by heavy blue stone wagons from the Beaverkill quarries made the plank impracticable and stone blocks, laid parallel to accommodate the wagon tracks, were substituted for the wood pavement.

Mrs. Orval Fortson is again at her home on the mountain road after a sojourn of several months in New York City.

J. B. Steketee, secretary of Glasco, and George Weeks, a Shokan boy now employed as a guard at Napanoch, attended services in the Shokan Reformed Church Sunday morning. The Rev. August Pfau, pastor of the church, preached from the Scriptures, Acts 15:30-31.

Robert Secor of Kingston and son, Clifford, of Asbury Park, N. J., paid a visit to their summer home in the village center Sunday afternoon.

The new schedule for the departure of mails at the local post office is as follows: For Albany, Kingston and New York, 8:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.; Oneonta and intermediate points, 9:45 a. m.; Margaretville and intermediate points, 1 p. m.; Ashokan, 4:45 a. m. and 1 p. m.; Olive Bridge, Krumville and Samsonville, 7:20 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. Carriers are John Marshall, M. Tremper and Paul James.

Audrey Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Berry of West Hurley, is numbered among the successful resident reservoir fishermen. Young Berry last week landed two fine trout about 12 inches in length. The Berrys for many years made their home at Bolerille.

Lemuel DuBois, supervisor of Olive, attended the Ashokan railroad station hearing at Albany Friday.

Lewis Rodie, a former resident, was included among the callers in this section Sunday.

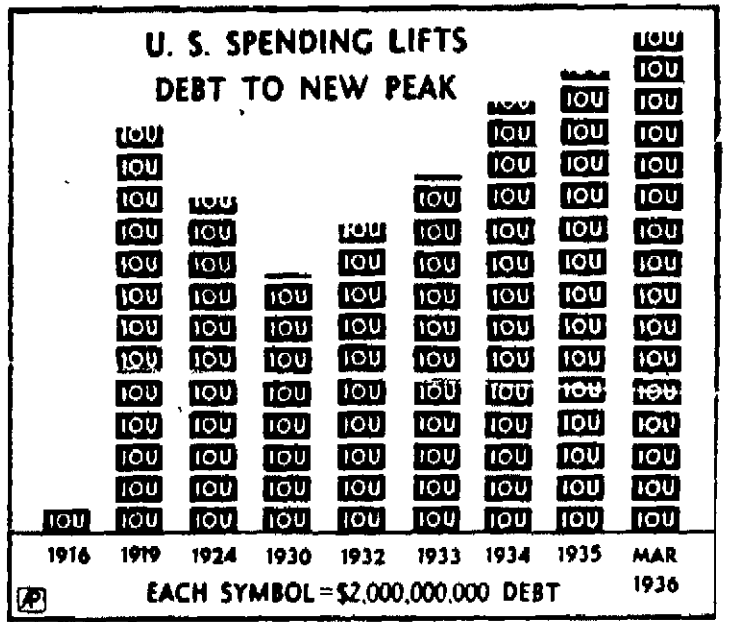

Thomas Matland and family are expected to arrive at their place on the middle boulevard in the near future.

Mrs. Sam Friedman went to New York Sunday for a visit with relatives. Mr. Friedman, who is chemist in the PWS laboratory at Brown's, expects to go to the city Tuesday for a reunion of his college class.

Good Roads Being Traveled.
Santa Barbara, Calif. (P.)—Widenings of highways and elimination of curves in California have been accompanied by increasing accident toll, said Ray Ingers, director of the state motor vehicle department.

Peeping Guards Now Placed.
Peeping (P.)—Bram negotiates on the front porch of compounds, stores and residences here are taken in at night last week addicts used them and said the motel in order to see the natives.

"CHECK BOOK" MONEY GROWS AS GOVERNMENT PREPARES FOR CASH BONUS PAYMENT

The steady growth of government debt during depression years is illustrated by the above chart.

Many contend the billions paid out for relief and public works have been a major pillar under improvement in consumer demand for goods and in the upturn of heavy industries. Others contend the big treasury deficit impair business confidence.

More Money for Industry.
In recent months the shift toward works projects has diverted more dollars directly into industrial channels, in contrast with the earlier action on rehabilitation of financial institutions, home and farm mortgages and emergency relief.

Behind the front line attack on unemployment are monetary implications of the spending campaign. Treasury borrowing to bridge the wide gap between receipts and expenditures has made liberal use of the nation's credit machinery.

The sharp rise in bank deposits has been attributed partly to payment by banks for federal obligations in "check-book" money and subsequent spending of it by the government. Economists call this "inflation of deposits" through use of bank credit.

"Check-Book" Money.
To some theorists, the deposits to created constitute a medium for potential increase in business transactions. To them a rising business curve is a natural accompaniment of expansion in "check-book" money, whether as the result of government or private borrowing.

More important to others is the question as to whether the crest of federal spending is near.

As long as there is substantial unemployment, administration spokesmen assert spending must continue. At the same time, business fears increased taxes may impair the recovery movement.

(In the sixth and final article of this series, Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press financial editor, will discuss the outlook for building and heavy industry.)

NAVAL BUILDING PROGRAM NEARS END IN ARGENTINA.

Buenos Aires (P.)—A new cruiser and several smaller ships may be added to the Argentine navy, strong-est in South America, this year.

A 10-year naval modernization plan, approved by congress in 1929, expires in September and the ministry of marine is contemplating fulfilling the final step, which would add a cruiser, three destroyers and three submarines to the fleet. Seven mine-sweepers now are building in Argentine yards.

The Argentine fleet now includes two battleships, two cruisers, eight destroyers, three submarines with a mothership, five mine-sweepers and a schoolship.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

CLAUDE E. JACOBSON

New York, May 5 (AP)—The stock market got a grip on recovery today, with many issues being pushed up fractions to 3 or more points.

Following an active opening there was scattered profit taking which shaded early gains. After the realizing was absorbed, the list again began to climb. The turnover was relatively small on the advance.

Conspicuous in the forward trek around noon were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, du Pont, Budd Mfg., Yellow Truck, Goodyear, American Aircraft, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Western Union, North American, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe and Union Pacific.

Annual Dinner and Playoff at Comforter

A big night awaits the members of the Federation of Men's Clubs as they gather for the annual dinner and playoff for the season's dart baseball championship tonight at the hall of the Church of the Comforter on Wynkoff Place. Over 150 have asked for places at the banquet table when dinner is served at 6:30.

Following the feast the big playoff of the season will get under way. The contestants are the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Men's Club and the club from Woodstock. These two teams have battled their way to the top in the two leagues and now face each other to decide the big victory.

With the Wrestlers At Albany Tonight

Albany, May 5—Dean Dotson of Salt Lake City and Hank Barber of Cambridge, Mass., a pair of highly touted contenders for heavyweight wrestling laurels, will battle it out in the 10th Infantry Armory final match here tonight.

Dotson last week scored a notable triumph in the same ring when he whipped Joe Dusek in a show which brought all of the latter's brothers as well as himself into action. Dotson hasn't been beaten since entering the professional mat ranks.

MIDDLETOWN HIGH DEFEATS ELLENVILLE HIGH, 22-1

The Ellenville High School baseball outfit took an expected licking from the Middletown High boys Saturday in a DUSO game played at Ellenville. The Orange county team won by a score of 22 to 1, making 17 hits off of pitching by Rosenstein and Friend. Ellenville was credited with six hits, three of which were made by Wenig, left fielder, in four times at bat. Rosenstein, Everett and Roman accounted for the three other hits.

Volckmann, Sr., on Witness Stand

Catskill, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Alfred C. Volckmann, Sr., underwent a new ordeal on the witness stand today as he gave testimony intended to show that his son, Alfred, was "abnormal" and should not be sent to the electric chair for killing nine-year-old Helen Glenn.

The youth's father, told of delinquencies charged against 20-year-old Alfred several years ago in Jersey City, accusations which were quashed, later, however. His face was drawn, and he appeared to be making an effort as he testified. The father is a New York city accountant, reputedly well-to-do. Near him sat his son, who has shown little reaction to the course of the trial.

Waste Basket Fire at Van Slyke & Horton

Shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon while one of the girls was busy at work at her desk in the office of the cigar factory of Van Slyke & Horton she heard a crackling sound behind her. Turning quickly she saw that a waste paper basket standing under the desk behind her was bristling with flames. Employees of the plant rushed in and extinguished the fire with the aid of two fire extinguishers while the fire department was called by a still alarm. The fire was out when the firemen reached the plant. The desk, chair and part of the wooden partition near the desk were damaged by the flames.

Bells, Sirens Sound Riotous Joy In Rome

force of Italian troops had entered Addis Ababa. Earlier, America's fighting envoy, Cornelius Van H. Engert, and the little band which stayed off attacks of Ethiopian bandits, had been escorted safely to the British legation.

The Italian assurances were given the American embassy in Rome in response to an inquiry from Secretary Hull asking it to ascertain from the Fascist government what steps it was taking to meet its responsibility to protect the lives of foreigners in the Ethiopian capital as far as possible.

The inquiries were made officially by Alexander Kirk, charge d'affaires of the embassy at Rome.

Kirk was informed that Italian airplanes already were flying over Addis Ababa in an effort to disperse bands of marauding natives who have terrorized the capital for three days.

As soon as the city was occupied, Kirk was told, the Italian military would take all possible measures to protect the lives and property of foreigners there according to the rules of war.

Harms Goes Back To Work on Farm

Harry Harms of Mahway, N. J., who was taken into custody, Saturday, on a warrant issued by New Jersey police, and held in the Ulster county jail, went back to work on a farm in Hurley this morning after spending three days in the jail.

Harms told a reporter that when detectives from Rahway came for him, they went back without their man, saying he was the wrong one. One of the policemen, George McMahon, knew him, he said, and immediately released him.

"I've never been in any kind of trouble," Harms told the reporter. "I was willing to go back to Jersey because they had nothing on me. The charge on which the warrant was issued had to do with a bad check. I never wrote a check, and I knew nothing about the case for which the warrant was issued."

Harms, who has been working on the Hurley farm about three weeks, said he was more than glad to go back to the soil. "It's pretty tough to be locked in jail any time without being put in there an innocent man. But I was treated well. The confinement was the hardest part."

Jailor Clayton Vredenburg picked Harms up Saturday morning on the New Jersey warrant, and on information furnished by a letter from the Rahway police describing him and giving the number of his car, which he had in the barn on the Hurley farm.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, May 5—The Port Ewen Reformed Church softball team will play the Fair Street Reformed Church team on Wednesday, May 6, at Forsyth Park at 6:30 sharp. All players are requested to be on hand.

The May meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the schoolhouse on Thursday afternoon of this week instead of on Friday on account of Friday being Arbor Day. A large attendance is requested at the meeting as matters of importance are to be discussed. A very interesting guest speaker will also be present.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Elvin Hutchings at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mrs. Hutchings and Mrs. Chauncey Freer will be the hostesses.

The annual school meetings of Districts No. 15, 13, 8 and 1 will be held at 8 o'clock, D. S. T. this evening. Matter of importance will be transacted at School District No. 1, and a large attendance is desired.

Basketball charms were awarded to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church basketball team at the Sunday morning service. The team won the championship of the Kingston Church league last winter.

The regular meeting of the Epopus Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will be held in the Prithian hall lodge room Wednesday evening at 8:15. A card party at which the public is invited to attend, will be held in the lodge rooms. Refreshments will be served.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the home of Mrs. John Holliday at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Irvin Barringer spent Thursday at the home of Elmer Barringer of Palenburgh helping Samantha with the family wash. All are glad to hear Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barringer are gaining.

Mrs. Albert Palen, who has been on the sick list, is feeling better. Alfred Barringer has employment in Tilton.

Harry Keator and wife were numbered among the shoppers in Kingston on Saturday.

occupation of Ethiopia, Marshal Badoglio would leave East Africa. These sources stated that a high political personage, whose name has not yet been given out, is destined to govern Ethiopia with the assistance of military commanders, among whom will be Graziani. The usually authoritative Virginio Gayda stated in an editorial: "Within a few hours the Italian troops, implored for by those natives not joining in the rioting and by foreigners, will be at Addis Ababa to restore order."

Selassie Takes Jewels

Djibouti, French Somaliland, May 5 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie went into exile laden with rich treasures. When the Ethiopian monarch sailed aboard a British cruiser yesterday for Palestine, his possessions included the imperial family jewels and many cases of gold bullion, gold coins and silver Maria Theresa Thalers.

Even six automobiles were listed among the imperial belongings. The emperor was reported to have stopped at Dire Dawa, while coming here by railway from Addis Ababa over the week-end, and to have removed all cash from the treasury and customs house there.

The high command of Ethiopia's southern army, last organized military resistance to the Italian campaign of conquest, followed Emperor Haile Selassie into voluntary exile today.

Ras Nasibu, governor of Harar Province, who held out stubbornly for seven months against the Fascist forces on the Somali front, abandoned his defense of Harar, second city of Ethiopia, and fled with members of his general staff. The Ethiopian officers arrived in this French territory last night and fastened on today to British Somaliland, bound for Berbera, British port about 200 miles southeast of Djibouti, on the Gulf of Aden.

Embassy Notified

London, May 5 (AP)—The British government notified the United States embassy today that the American legation in Addis Ababa was evacuated safely.

Sir Sidney Barton, British minister to Addis Ababa, said the United States staff left the legation under a guard of British soldiers.

The legation, he stated, was left unoccupied.

Sir Sidney advised his government that the Italians had been reported within five miles of Addis Ababa this morning.

Sir Sidney reported that another British detachment was "in the thick of it" defending the Belgian legation.

The Belgian diplomatic post was attacked by drunken looters at 6 p. m. yesterday, but the looters were driven off by British guards.

They attacked again at midnight, and were again repulsed.

The diplomat stated that the situation was "fairly quiet" at 8 a. m. today, that there had been no British casualties, and that the British detachment still was holding the Belgian legation.

Swiss, Frenchman Saved

Berlin, May 5 (AP)—An armed detachment from the German legation in Addis Ababa rescued an unharmed Swiss and Frenchman early today, the German News Bureau correspondent reported.

Dr. Marcel Junod, the Swiss representative of the International Red Cross, and a French newspaper correspondent named Sommers, had barricaded themselves in the cellar of a collapsed building.

There they held out against bandits for three days.

A relief detachment from the German legation went to their aid and removed the two men to the French legation.

About 300 Ethiopian women and children were given protection in the legation compound.

League Member No Longer.

Rome, May 5 (AP)—Ethiopia is no longer a member of the League of Nations and military occupation means political possession, informed sources asserted today as Fascist troops neared Addis Ababa.

The consensus of newspaper editorials reflecting government opinion emphasized four points:

1. Ethiopia is no longer a member of the League and does not exist as a separate state.

2. No direct negotiations therefore will be carried on with Ethiopia.

3. Peace will be made in Ethiopia, not Geneva, which must no longer interest itself in the Ethiopian problem.

4. Italy's military occupation of Ethiopian territory means political possession, but with the recognition of the rights of other powers.

Today's editorials gave substance to the prediction in military circles that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, upon arriving in Addis Ababa, would declare the total annexation of Ethiopia in the name of King Victor Emmanuel.

Lack of Time.

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Lack of time to adjust wireless equipment is believed to have prevented the American and British legations in Addis Ababa from communicating directly during yesterday's rioting.

The American minister's appeal for British assistance, which finally resulted in his legation being evacuated safely today, was relayed by way of Washington and London to the British legation a few miles away from his post.

The reason for this was not known definitely here. It was presumed, however, that difficulty in adjusting the legation sets to wave lengths required for short distance transmission was responsible.

The state department had been informed that technicians of both legations were seeking to make the necessary changes in their stations a week ago to insure uninterrupted communication; but they did not have time to finish this work.

Paint Dealers Held Meeting Monday

"The economy of quality in painting jobs was one of the lessons that many property owners learned from the depression," W. A. Terwilliger told about 75 master painters and paint dealers of this city and vicinity at a meeting held by National Lead Company last night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The chairman of the meeting was W. A. Terwilliger, and the program was presented by the Messrs. R. H. McFadden and J. Taylor of National Lead Company, 151 Broadway, New York city, manufacturers of Dutch Boy paint products.

"During the depression," Mr. McFadden continued, "many property owners tried to save money by buying 'cheap' paints and hiring inexperienced painters. The result was early paint failures and expensive burning off of the old cracked paint surfaces when repainting was necessary. This extra expense was many times the saving on the first coat of these 'cheap' painting jobs."

"Painters and paint dealers must use advertising and proper selling methods to drive home the lesson of the depression that it pays to hire a good painter and use quality paint products."

The program included a talk by "Ask Dad—He Knows," newspaper, and other advertising features to help painters and paint dealers tell the public the story of quality painting jobs.

Several painting demonstrations were given by R. H. McFadden to show painters the latest trends in interior and exterior painting.

Among the painter and dealer guests were Dwyer Bros. Inc., Herzog Hardware and Paint Co., Kingston Paint and Glass Co., William Spiegel Paint Co.

ULSTER PARK W. C. T. U. MEETING HELD APRIL 29

The Ulster Park W. C. T. U. held its local institute in the church hall on Wednesday, April 29, with Mrs. Emma Carpenter of Plattkill, county president, as guest speaker. Twenty-one were entertained, 15 members and six visitors. Two of the visitors, Mrs. Lizzie McLean and Mrs. John Rennie, joined our union. Morning session commenced by singing "America the Beautiful" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" Psalm 146 read by Mrs. Page, who also offered prayer. Singing "Crusade Hymn." The program was carried out as near as the one in "Woman's Temperance Work Symposium"—Duties of officers and department directors read by each one. Noon-tide prayer by the Rev. Ralph Beaumont. Adjourned for lunch. Afternoon session: Singing, "Lead on O King Eternal."

All repeated the 23rd Psalm led by the Rev. J. Thoburn Logg of Port Ewen Methodist Church. He then read a few verses of scripture, offered prayer. Then all repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison, led by the Rev. J. T. Logg, who then gave a talk on temperance. A solo by Mrs. Goertz was enjoyed by all. Several excerpts taken from "A Syllabus in

LeFever and Duffy Are Not Recognized as WPA Appointments

There has been no change in the refusal of Mayor Heiselman or the county authorities to recognize the appointments of Ray LeFever, former purchasing agent for Ulster county when the Democrats had control of the Board of Supervisors, or of John J. Duffy of Rosendale, who had been named by the Albany WPA to replace J. E. Gumaer of Port Ewen and Albert H. Shultis of this city in charge of the distribution of federal surplus commodities.

Mr. LeFever and Mr. Duffy were to take office on the first of May, but the appointment so far has been in name only as they have not been permitted to take up their duties in the county office.

The county and city authorities hold that efficient men were holding the positions and had served efficiently, and their appointments had been approved when the WPA took over the food and clothing distribution in the county and city, and that there was no reason for replacing them with others who happened to be of a different political faith.

Mr. LeFever has been reporting daily it is said at the County House at New Paltz, but the work is being performed by Mr. Gumaer as usual, while in Kingston Mr. Duffy reported for a few days, but the work is being carried on by Mr. Shultis as usual.

Alvin J. Busch Was Fined $50 in Court

Alvin J. Busch, 45, of 56 Newkirk avenue, pleaded guilty to operating a car while intoxicated when arraigned this morning before Judge Culliton in police court. The judge imposed a fine of $50 which was paid, and revoked Mr. Busch's driving license. Mr. Busch was arrested Monday afternoon on Broadway, near Piermont street, by Officers Edward Leonard and Bow, on duty in one of the radio cars.

John Ferguson, 55, of Mt. Vernon, and Edward Walsh, 39, of Cambridge, Mass., arrested for public intoxication in the old telegraph office of the former U. & D. railroad, near the West Shore station, on Monday, were fined $3 each.

John F. Kennedy, 45, who told the police he had no home, was fined $3 for public intoxication at the West Shore station yesterday. George Malachy, 30, of Rhinebeck, was arrested there Monday by State Troopers and turned over to the local police on a warrant sworn out by E. J. Trowbridge of the Mohican Company, charging Malachy with petit larceny. The arrest grew out of a check transaction. The case was held open until later.

Tug Rob Goes Back Into Commission

The tug Rob of the Cornell Steamboat Company which sank in the freighter of March 12 went into commission on Sunday for the first time since she was raised. Sailing out of the creek for the first time this year, the Rob put in a jaunty appearance, being all painted up from stem to stern and showing no evidences of the damage that was done to her by the ice when she sank.

Considerable damage was done to Rob when she sank early in the morning of March 12 when hit by a runaway barge at her berth at the ferry slip. At this time her mast, smokestack, lifeboat, and engine room skylight were carried away by the ice and considerable damage was done to the sides of her cabin and pilot house by the ice grinding against them. Two weeks later she was raised by a wrecker of the Merritt, Chapman and Scott Company and taken to Hildebrandt's drydock at South Rondout, where she remained for another two weeks while the hole in her hull was repaired so she could again float. Being brought down to the Cornell shops her cabins were virtually rebuilt, her smokestack was fished out from the bottom of the creek and put back in place and with a good coat of paint, the Rob looked none the worse for her visit to the locker of Davy Jones. Since going back into commission the Rob has helped the tug Wm. S. Earl is on duty in the creek at present, the job which the Rob held almost continuously since she was built.

Seeks to Recover for Truck Damaged by Train Near Harriman

Caligero Licitino, who resides about four miles west of Highland, seeks in Supreme Court to recover for the loss of his Dodge truck which was damaged on November 13, 1934, by an Erie train at a grade crossing near Harriman. At the time of the accident a new highway was being built at Harriman on the main route to Newburgh and a dirt road was being used as a detour. That road ran over the Erie tracks at grade.

On the early evening of November 13, 1934, the truck was being operated north from New York City, where Mr. Licitino had been to deliver a load of fruit. He claims that as he approached the crossing he looked and saw no train in sight and that at the time the flasher lights at the crossing were not operating. There was a flagman standing on the crossing but the man made no effort to stop the car until its front wheels were on the rail. Then the plaintiff alleges the man stepped forward and stopped the truck. As yet the lights had not commenced to operate to indicate a train was approaching.

When his truck was stopped Mr. Licitino claims he applied the brakes so hard that the engine stalled and when he attempted to start the motor the starter would not turn over. He alleges he then saw a train coming some 1,000 feet away and that the flasher lights began to operate to indicate a train was approaching. The flagman was asked to flag the train but the plaintiff claims this was not done until the train was too close to be stopped. Mr. Licitino and a boy with him tried to push the truck back off the tracks but were unable to do so. It was loaded with empty crates.

The train came on and struck the Dodge truck doing damage and the action in supreme court is to recover the sum of some $700 for the damage done. The plaintiff claims when he approached the tracks and no train was then in sight but that later he saw the smoke and the train approach at a long distance away and that it was after he had stalled on the tracks that the flasher signal lights began to operate. It is his contention that he had ample time to have crossed the tracks before the train reached the crossing and would have gone safely over the tracks had he not been suddenly stopped on the tracks and his car stalled by the sudden stop caused by the flagman. Both Mr. Licitino and the boy left the truck before it was hit.

For the defense it is claimed that the flagman at the crossing was there in addition to the usual warnings and that as the truck approached the crossing the flasher lights were flashing, that the train sounded its whistle and bell and that the flagman held a red and white lantern which he swung to warn traffic to stop. It is the contention of the defense that Mr. Licitino drove his car on the tracks despite these warnings and did not know what the signal lanterns were for and stopped to inquire. The flagman it is claimed told him to get back but instead of so doing he left his truck and was then struck. The car was thrown against the blinker signals and even after the signals were torn down they still continued to flash their warning.

When the plaintiff did not back his truck from the tracks and when the train was still some distance away, the railroad claims the flagman did run up the tracks a distance of some 60 feet and flag the train and that the train, running with 10 passenger cars, did stop less than three car lengths after hitting the car.

A. W. Leat appears for the plaintiff and Mr. Oakes of Watts, Oakes and Bright, appears for the railroad with Philip Eiting of counsel during the selection of the jury.

At the opening of the morning session the 25 extra jurors were in attendance and Justice Foster excused 12 of the 14 who asked to be excused.

In making up a day calendar Justice Foster announced that any case marked for trial would be called three times and if passed three times would not again be called. Several cases were added to the day calendar, several not to be moved until Thursday.

No. 291, Esther Rosen against Louis Drucker, a negligence action, was announced as settled. LeRoy Lounsbury for plaintiff and Lawrence Levine for defendant. Motions were heard in cases where a "trial motion" marking had been given on the calendar call by the clerk.

Second West Point Organ Recital Sunday

West Point, N. Y., May 3.—The second of the spring organ recitals will be held in the Cadet Chapel here on Sunday at 3:30 p. m. The organist, Frederick C. Mayer, will have the assistance of Mrs. Walter K. Wilson, soprano, of Omaha, Neb., as soloist. Mrs. Wilson has appeared as soloist with the famous Bach Choir of Bethlehem, Pa., with the late Dr. Wolfe conducting. Those who have heard Mrs. Wilson's artistic singing in the chapel on previous occasions will welcome another opportunity of hearing her.

The organ numbers will include a song, "Mammy," by Dett, in honor of Mother's Day; a comparatively new number by Widor, "Lauda Sion," from "Suite Latine," and "Carillon," a brilliantly realistic number by Marcel Dupre, dedicated to Mr. Mayer.

Parking of cars in the vicinity of the chapel will be permitted for this event. The program will be over in plenty of time for dress parade by the corps of cadets, which takes place at 5:30 p. m. The recital is free to the public and all lovers of music are invited to attend.

The complete program follows:

Doughty Asks Bus Franchise Change

Albany, May 3 (Special).—In a hearing today before the Public Service Commission, W. G. Himes, principal transportation engineer, presiding, Oscar E. Doughty, of Grahamsville, Ulster county, requested the commission for a modification of his franchise to operate a bus line between Ellenville and Grahamsville. After Doughty had failed to appear at an earlier hearing which was called by the commission to determine whether the certificate of convenience and necessity issued to Doughty should be revoked for his failure to operate, the commission modification which would allow Doughty to operate his line during the summer months, July and August.

Because of the drop in passenger business and the loss of a school contract, Doughty explained, he was obliged to discontinue operations. The hearing was adjourned, subject to the filing of statistics by Doughty for the consideration of the commission. A ruling is not expected for some time.

At The Theatres

Today Broadway: "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Freddie Bartholomew, minus any fancy curls or velvet suits, lives the little role of this splendid story with a realism and a charm that puts this picture into a class by itself. The story is so universally known and loved that almost everyone has at some time or other read the tale of the little New York boy who becomes an English lord, a carefully chosen cast is of tremendous help to the little star and the work of C. Aubrey Smith and Dolores Costello Barrymore, who makes her screen comeback in this picture, is especially helpful. There are moments of excitement, much pathos and some excellent comedy. The adaptation was handled by Hugh Walpole and John Cromwell directed. A don't miss attraction that is recommended to the entire family.

Kingston: "Panic on the Air" and "Tough Guy." Lew Ayres plays the role of a dirt slinging radio commentator in the first film at Kingston and the plot revolves around a strange five dollar bill he receives with code markings on it. Under threat of death, he turns the bill over to a pretty girl and the excitement begins. The whole episode which follows includes murder, kidnapping and ransom money with young Mr. Ayres riding high, wide and handsome through the danger of it all. Florence Rice, Benny Baker and Edwin Maxwell are featured. "Tough Guy" is a sure fire melodrama, a fast paced, exciting yarn of a young millionaire who runs away from home with his dog due to his father's cruelty. He gets caught in a gang robbery and the robbers take him along with them because he has witnessed the crime. It is one of the most intense of the season's pictures with Jackie Cooper starred and with Joseph Calleia, Harvey Stephens and Jean Hershoff featured.

Orpheum: "The Gay Deception." One of the most fantastic yet enjoyable bits of nonsense of last year's screen romances is the main attraction at the Orpheum, the story of a small town girl who finds herself suddenly rich and who goes to New York for a fling. There are multi-tudinous laughs and the whole comedy adventure is presented in a lavish and entertaining manner. Frances Dee and Francis Lederer are featured. "Hot Off the Press" is the other full length feature with Jack LaRue.

Tomorrow Broadway: "The Witness Chair." Beautiful Ann Harding nearly perishes in an emotional whirlpool during the staccato course of the main attraction at the Broadway because the plot dies deeply into a woman's hidden past and plasters it all over the country through the sensational publicity it creates. Miss Harding does a capable job in the role of the harassed and hounded witness who has to testify her soul away and make her past a matter of public record. She is well aided by Walter Abel and other featured players include Moroni Olsen, Douglas Dumbrille and Margaret Hamilton. Good adult drama.

Kingston: Same. Orpheum: "Red Salute" and "Burning Gold." A Yankee soldier gets tangled up with an upstart heiress below the Rio Grande in the opening comedy at the Orpheum and before the play is over, the show delves cautiously into radicalism, preparedness and patriotism. Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Young head the players. "Burning Gold" is the other full length attraction with Bill Boyd starred.

Forty-Year Members Are Honored Here by Rondout Lodge, 343

Veterans' Night was observed Monday evening by Rondout Lodge No. 343, F. & A. M., when the lodge paid tribute to four of its members who this year are celebrating their fortieth birthday as members of the Masonic order. The four members are Dr. Alexander A. Stern, Carl G. Fischer, Alfred W. Tongue and Wesley Gregory. All four were raised Master Masons in Rondout Lodge in 1896 when the late Palmer Canfield, president of the Canfield Supply Company, was master of the lodge.

David Wetterhahn, who was raised a Master Mason in 1833, and Richard E. Freure, who was raised in 1893, were also present to pay tribute to the four members who have reached the 40th Masonic anniversary, as was Louis V. Bastien, who was raised in 1882, Harry S. Myers, who was raised in 1882, and one visiting brother, John R. Holliday of Cortland Lodge of Peckskill, who is celebrating his 60th anniversary as a Master Mason.

The reception to the veterans present followed the business meeting of the lodge and Henry Million, Jr., master of Rondout Lodge, in welcoming the veterans to a seat in the east, said that it was a noteworthy event for a Mason to celebrate 40 or more years as a Master Mason, and it was for that reason that the lodge was observing Veterans' Night.

Among the masters and past masters who attended to pay tribute to the veterans were Harold Lee of Oasis Lodge of Prattville, Grant Schermhorn of Gilboa Lodge; George Foster of Mt. Tabor Lodge of Hunter, and P. A. Carey, Thomas A. Rowland, Louis A. Seamon, Jr., Robert G. Groves, Charles W. Shultis, and Harry Kirschner, past masters of Rondout Lodge.

The address to the veterans was delivered by the Rev. Charles L. Palmer, chaplain of the lodge, who himself has been a Master Mason for the past 33 years. Dr. Palmer delivered a most interesting talk to the brothers. He traced the early origin of Masonry, and the gradual growth and development of the order until today it stood as one of the most important secret fraternities in the world. The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man were the two ideals on which Masonry is founded. Take away Free Masonry and one of the most important links in the civilization of the world would be destroyed, he said.

All 40 years were called to be Master Masons, but those who were called should not be that they lived up to the noble traditions of the order. It was a signal honor to be taken lightly by any member of the fraternity. Dr. Palmer closed his interesting address by reading a humorous poem of the man who had ridden the goat and of how he felt the following day after he had become a full-blown Mason.

Following the address the social committee served luncheon and a social hour followed.

The next important event in the Masonic Calendar of Rondout Lodge will be the observance of George R. Main Night on Monday evening, May 15, when honor will be paid to Mr. Main in celebration of his 25th year of service as tiller of the lodge.

BUY MERCHANTS REPORT WINDOWS WERE "DECORATED"

Early this morning the police department received complaints from merchants with stores along Broadway that some one with a perverted sense of humor had used crayons or other materials to mark up the store windows inscribing on the windows "fresh fish" and "fresh shad."

The pre-election promise that the average candidate makes is about as alluring as the pictures in the seed catalogues, and the disappointment to the customer is usually just about as great.

BERARDIS AND HEDRICKS MEET IN CITY LEAGUE OPENER THIS EVENING

The big time in baseball for this section starts tonight with the opening of the City League schedule at Athletic Field, Smith avenue and Cornell street, where games will be played Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. During May the games will start at 6:15.

The honor of opening the battle for supremacy goes to the Berardi A. C., last year's league champions, and the Hedricks Bros, who played last year as the North Rondout Social Club.

Julius Chick is slated to start the pitching for the Berardis, with Mack Tiano behind the bat. Battery for Hedricks will probably be Ed Murphy and Gardner.

Tentative lineups for the two teams are:

Hedricks
Turck, ss. Berardi, 1b.
Berardi, 2b. Mitchell, 3b.

The City League schedule is opening over a week ahead of last year.

When the first game was played on May 14, opposing teams being the North Rondout Social Club and the Schryvers.

Four new teams appear in the league roster this year. They are the Glisco All Stars, who take the place of the Crystal Beauty Shoppe, the Kaslich A. C., which has been strengthened for its entry into the league competition, Grunewald's Home Leaders and the Huron Indians.

Manager Baumgarten's Indians made a fine record playing at Rosendale last summer, but Kristie Field is not available to them this year and they have entered the City League as representatives of Stone Ridge. Most of the players who will represent the Grunewald Home Leaders played independent baseball last year as Diers All Stars.

With so many new faces in the league roster there should be much added interest in the coming games as fans watch the different teams in action and try to get a line on the strength of the various combinations.

At the start it looks as if it might be a pretty tight race, with several of the clubs, at least, fairly well balanced.

Games scheduled for the rest of this week are:

Wednesday
Glisco All Stars vs. Huron Indians.

Thursday
Kaslich A. C. vs. Grunewald's.

Friday
Hedricks vs. Huron Indians.

The New York Giants batters should hang their heads when Carl Hubbell comes along for they have been letting him down in shameful fashion.

In the last 26 innings the ace finger had worked on the mound, the Giants have given him exactly one run to play with. That isn't much of a lead in any ball game even behind Hubbell, who won 23 while losing 12 last year.

Hubbell pitched four-hit ball yesterday but the Giants failed to score a single run and went down 1-0 before the Cincinnati Reds. In his previous start, Hubbell went 17 innings against the Cardinals but lost 2-1 when his mates failed to fathom the slants of Leroy Parmelee. Hubbell won his first two games of the season.

Only one of the four hits against Hubbell was an extra base blow but it subsequently spelled defeat. Kiki Cuyler opened the ninth inning with a triple. Sammy Byrd brought him home with the winning run.

The Giants managed to collect eight hits off Elbert Stine, 22-year-old rookie, but it was the old story of failing to hit with a run in sight. Stine did not issue a single pass.

Although Bengie was credited with the victory, he was retired in the Cardinal half of the seventh after he had walked two and Leo Durocher had singled to fill the bag. The Cards scored only one run, however, as Frankie Frisch hit into a double play.

Pete Appleton, former Indian hurler, was belted for 13 hits by his old pals. He held the Tribe scoreless for five innings but Cleveland scored in every inning after the Appleton had three straight victories to his credit before the encounter.

The Indians, already hard-hit by the illness of Bruce Campbell, which was expected to terminate his career, received another blow in this game when Earl Averill pulled a leg muscle.

As the Reds battled on the ball field, there was turmoil behind the scenes. General Manager Larry S. MacPhail inferred that Paul Derringer, the Reds' ace finger, might be dropped from the active list unless he plays "like he's supposed to."

Derringer was suspended without pay when he failed to slide home in Sunday's game. Derringer won 22 games last year but he has failed to show his customary form this season.

As the Reds battled on the ball field, there was turmoil behind the scenes. General Manager Larry S. MacPhail inferred that Paul Derringer, the Reds' ace finger, might be dropped from the active list unless he plays "like he's supposed to."

LITTLE FIGHTERS MEET IN 'NATURAL'

Boxing fans are looking forward to the meeting of Tony Canzoneri (left), lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin (right), former welterweight titleholder, at Madison Square Garden, New York. Both are rated strong punchers and clever boxers. Tony will be giving away about 10 pounds but nevertheless was a slight favorite. (Associated Press Photos)

CENTRALS DEFEAT WINGS

7-6 IN FIVE INNING GAME

In a five-inning contest played at the high school grounds Monday the Centrals took a seven to six decision over the Wings. Mazzuca for the Wings and Vogt for the Centrals were each credited with seven strikeouts.

Falvey led the batting for the winners, getting two safe hits and scoring twice. Brooks got two hits, one a two-bagger, and Snyder got one hit, for the losers.

North Bergen, N. J.—Frankie Cinque, 140, New York, knocked out Tommy Bland, 143, Canada, in the eighth round (10).

Ross Picks McLarnin To Win Friday Night

Chicago, May 5 (AP).—Barney Ross, who's taken punches from both of them and handed a few back, picks Jimmy McLarnin to whip Tony Canzoneri Friday night when the two classy little ringmen meet in a scheduled 10-round bout in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Ross, world's welterweight champion by virtue of a victory over "Baby Faced" Jimmy and one-time holder of the lightweight crown, taken from Canzoneri, likes McLarnin because he thinks he's a harder puncher and a better boxer.

"I look for a tough fight, but I think Jimmy will win," said Ross, who will see the fight. "Jimmy, from my fights with both boys, is the harder hitter and superior boxer. I also think that Canzoneri will have to give away too much weight."

"I don't think there'll be a knock-out, and if McLarnin does win it's going to be only by a shade."

Four "Empire Nations"

Control Most of Globe

Four "empire" nations—Great Britain, Soviet Russia, France and the United States—each has a larger share of the earth's land than its people. Together these four control more than 57 per cent of the land surface of the world. Is it any wonder that Japan, Germany and Italy are restless and discontented, or that the appeal to "do something about it" warms the hearts of their respective peoples?

But suppose they "do something" in the sense they mean—that is, go to war in the hope of eventually seizing some of the fairer parts of the good earth. Is the real problem going to be solved? It would seem that the answer is no.

If Country A (with population density n or greater) and Country B (with population density n or greater) and takes away her rich and sparsely populated colonies, obviously Country B will thereupon find herself in much the position that A was before the trouble began. The pot and kettle will merely have changed places.

The world problem of population and area, however, remains unaltered in theory, though practically it will have been made worse because of the extravagantly wasteful destruction of real wealth that war always causes. This is the problem that is really serious—how can 40 persons be maintained for every square mile of land surface of this globe—good, bad and indifferent land together?

War cannot enlarge the land surface that must support mankind; it has never diminished the total number of people who want to live on it except by a tiny fraction for quite a brief period. There is no way out of the dilemma by the pathway of war.

Aristotle Anticipated

Modern Encyclopedias

In scope and authority, the writings of Aristotle are the chief Greek anticipation of the encyclopedia. The characteristic technique of the modern encyclopedia including alphabetical arrangement of material, was of late and slow development. The example was not clearly set until John Harris in 1704 published his Lexicon technicum, or a universal English dictionary of arts and sciences. William Canton, the first English printer, translated from the French and printed an encyclopedia or Mirror of the World. His successor, Wynkyn de Worde, printed John of Trevisa's English translation of the encyclopedia written in Latin by Bartholomew de Glanville.

The Penny in Medicine

A pharmacist, whose fussy solicitude for pennies stirs the gardener in our make-up, told us that, once upon a time, all doctors were called paeoni. The plants they used as medicine were called paeoniae, says the Indianapolis News. It's all because the penny was the first medical plant known. The Greeks, he went on, had a high regard for the common garden variety of penny as an antispasmodic. Mongolians, to this day, have a kitchen habit of using the root of the white penny in their soups; grind the seeds to mix with their tea—another observation muffed by the lady of "The Good Earth." Modern physicians who don't think much of the penny's medicinal properties are content to let it serve as a memorial flower.

Rhodes Scholarships

There are 32 Rhodes scholarships awarded annually and there is a competition every year in each state. The country is grouped into eight districts of six states each. The committee of selection for each state nominates from candidates applying to it the two best men to appear before the district committee. Each district committee then selects four men to be Rhodes scholars at Oxford. There is no written examination, candidates being nominated by their colleges on the basis of scholarly eminence, outstanding qualities of leadership, ability and general versatility. There is an age limit with other requirements of citizenship, etc.

Why Gold Is Standard

Gold is the logical standard of value measurement, because it has no commercial use other than for a few minor trinkets and it therefore is not a commodity in the general meaning of the term. The value of gold is established by the amount of labor or service that is required to produce it and only the cost of production can ever permanently change its worth. If gold were plentiful and cheap to produce, its value would be lowered and its use as a monetary gauge would be destroyed. The quantity of gold produced and the cost of its production has always kept pace with the growth and increase in the wealth of the world, which fact still more firmly establishes it as the logical standard of value measurement.

Ample Supply Seed Corn Is Available

Geneva, N. Y., May 5.—With ample stocks of excellent seed corn on the market this year, properly named and labeled, the chief question that confronts New York farmers is the selection of strains that are well adapted to New York conditions. Proof of good germination is also important. These words of advice come from Prof. M. T. Munn, seed analyst at the State Experiment Station here who has surveyed the seed corn situation for this spring.

There is still some confusion of names and descriptions under which corn is being offered in this state, says Prof. Munn, adding that it is important that every farmer who must buy seed corn should insist upon knowing the exact origin of the seed stocks he proposes to purchase. All seed sold legally in this state must be fully labeled, and the purchaser can do much to protect himself against misrepresentations by reading the label carefully before he buys.

Germination Tests Important

Field tests of 132 of the principal seed corn stocks offered for sale on the open markets of the state last year were made side by side on the Experiment Station grounds last summer. These tests showed that supposedly special strains of Extra Early Improved Learning, for example, sometimes turned out to be nothing more than a common stock of yellow dent Learning corn widely grown in the corn belt states but too late in maturing to make good ensilage corn in New York. Also, the popular West Branch Sweepstakes corn was found to be imitated in some instances, all of which further convinces Prof. Munn of the need for caution in buying seed corn.

Having made certain that the stock is adapted to New York conditions, Prof. Munn urges further that all seed corn be tested for germination well in advance of the planting season. Tests already made in the state seed laboratory indicate that many lots of corn are low in germination this spring, while at the same time there are many good lots. For those who do not wish to do their own testing, Prof. Munn offers the services of the seed testing laboratory where germination tests will be made free of charge for farmers who are using the corn for planting purposes. If the stock is to be offered for sale, a small fee is charged for the test.

CCC Men at Hudson Hunt for Syracuse Girl

Hudson, N. Y., May 5 (P).—A posse of CCC campers was asked by Sheriff Milton D. Saulpaugh today to aid in a renewed hunt for Miss Catherine Hull, 22, of Syracuse.

The girl disappeared April 2 while visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. C. McGonagle, of Lebanon Springs. Deputy Sheriff Howard L. Mosher of Syracuse came here yesterday to join the search. Saulpaugh and Mosher said they believed Miss Hull wandered into dense woods near her aunt's home and may have died of exposure.

Poultney Bigelow to Speak at Hi-Y Banquet

The committee of boys and girls arranging for the annual Hi-Y party for their teachers, announces that the program is all ready and expect the occasion to be one of good fellowship for both students and teachers.

The feature of the banquet program will be the address by Poultney Bigelow of Malden-on-Hudson, author, lecturer and world wide traveler, who recently returned from a trip to Africa where he had been pursuing his anthropological studies of the races found on that continent. Songs will be led by Paul Zucca with Danny Bittner at the piano. The formal program will be rounded out by brief toasts by Hi-Y members and teachers. Miss Barbara Friend, who served as chairman of the committee on preparations, will be the toastmaster at the banquet.

Following the banquet adjournment will be made to the "Y" gym, where a program of games has been arranged, for a social hour.
